

INSTALLATION INSTRUCTIONS

PVG01

Removal

(1) Suspend the rear of your snowmobile so the skid and track are hanging freely. Using a ratchet strap, loop the strap over your tunnel and around your rear swing arm. Tighten the strap to compress your suspension slightly. The objective is to remove any preload your suspension is putting on the pivot arm in order to remove the pivot bolt.

(2) Remove the T-motion pivot bolt from the top of the pivot arm

(3) Remove the lower pivot bolt, making sure not to lose the two washers between the rails and the pivot arm.

(5) Remove the steel sleeve from the OEM pivot arm and clean the grease off with a rag. Use a flat file to file the edges of the sleeve and remove any burrs or flare that might exist from it being installed. Sometimes the sleeve can be mushroomed slightly at the ends preventing it from sliding into the Munster pivot arm. This material must be removed by a file in order to install the sleeve.

(6) Install the sleeve into the Munster pivot arm.

(7) Install the pivot arm on the machine, making sure the two washers are in place between each side of the sleeve and the rails. Once the bolt and washers are in place, install the nut and tighten to 27 ft-lbs.

(8) If installing a Munster T-motion Delete, now is a good time to install, following the installation instructions for that product.

(9) Install the top pivot bolt included with the Munster pivot arm into the T-motion join. Thread the bolt into the locknut and tighten to 27 ft-lbs. Remove the ratchet strap compressing your suspension.

(10) Grease the lower grease fitting on your pivot arm with waterproof grease, according to grease specifications from your BRP manual.
